Washington, November 9.—The department of state is in receipt of a further communication from our consultat Leeds concerning the general import and export trade of the United Kingdom, and how to enlarge the trade of the United Kingdom, and how to enlarge the trade of the United States therewith. During the first months of the Present year the total imports of breadstaffs into the United Kingdom were: Wheat, $102.250,000; other grains and flour, $99,500,000; meat, dead and aftive, $50,000,000; miscellaneous, $10,000,000; meating a total of farm products of the enormous sum of $305,750,000, miscellaneous, $10,000,000; meating a total of farm products of the enormous sum of $305,750,000, miscellaneous, $10,000,000; meating a total of farm products of the enormous sum of $305,750,000. The harvest reports render it certain that the imports for the remaining four months will be even greater in proportion than the above. Of wheat imports, the United States is a sum in the United States in the grain trade, as no pains will be spared to develop her resources in that line. The imports of fresh meat from the United States, as soon as the prejudices against it are dissipated, will almost become illimitable. In eight months the Ir ports of cotion were $126,000,000,000, of whi in $97,000,000 were from the United States. The consul apeaks hopefully of the future of the American wine, spirits, watch, and shoe trade.

THE CUITON TRADE.

A Highly Important Letter from Liv rpool-Repart of the International Catton Convention.

Liverpool, October 9, 1877.

Lohn Phelps, Esq., President of the National Cotton Exchange of New Orieans, America:

Sis—I have the honer to report for the information of your a-sociation, that, at the suggestion of the Cotton Brokers' association, a conference of the various bodies connected with the catton trade in this town and the Cotton spinners' association has been held for the purpose of considering the recommendations of the International cotton convention. The conference appointed a committee consisting of the purpose of considering the recommendations of the International cotton convention. The conference appointed a committee consisting of the purpose of commerce, the United Cotton association and the Cotton Brokers' association, to consister and report upon the following reso utions of the convention:

"That it is desirable same mode of inspection or supervision should be established of cotton on arrival a Liverpool, a mait impost being levied upon each bale to defray the cost of such an arrangement, and that a committee be appointed to further this proposal, and to consider the proper jerking of ships, the weighing of cotton on the wharves, and other kindred subjects."

"That the different exchanges represented in this convention be requested to obtain legislation in their respective countries, so far as it does not already exist, to hold masters of vesses is liable for delivery of cargoes in a different condition from that acknowledged by their signatures on the bills of lading, accompanied by the inspector's certificate of condition." angualed by the inspector's certificate of condimination of the inspector's certificate of condimination of the recommendation that cotton be sold at not cash paters, without the present eduction of one and a half per cent, was postponed of the conference, in deference to the wishes of buyers of cotton, who demanded the discount as an old sage, and stated that its abolition would be considered a grievance, particularly in the present bad state to trade in Manchester. The recommendation that then cotton is sold on the spot paymont shall be by ash, before delivery, if required, was not confirmed by the conference. It was represented that the cractical working of such an option would be to introduce cash payments before delivery; this would cause somiderable inconvenience to buyers, and would not afford. The failures among trade buyers of cotton being very few, compared with the magnitude of the business it was felf that it was not at present necessary to introduce such a change in the terms of payment. The committee of the Cotton Brokers' association, which is considering the system of dealing in 'futures,' not having as yet made its report, the conference was unable to enter upon the consideration of this subject. The recommendation of the decitivery of one hundred bales of forty-three thousand two hundred pounds weight, this weight to be made up to the nearest halo, 'was could need by the conference, and the committee of the Cotton Brokers' association was requested to give effect to it this season. The arguments in favor of an alternation in the existing rule were briefly as follows:

First—That under it sellers could deliver bales of any weight, and frequently regulated their deliveries according as their contract was a profitable or a losing one.

Second—That buyers laving no certainty what Manual Properties

OUR RIVER MAILS.

Proposal to Abolish the Memphis Dis trict Routes Opposed by our Busi-ness Men-Strong Protest by the Cotton Exchange.

Address to Planters and Shippers o the Subject of Better Facilities for Delivering Cotton to Steamers.

A called meeting of the cotton exchange was held at half-past three o'clock resterday afternoon for the consideration of the proposed abolishment of our local river mall routes, as recommended by a special agent of the postoffice department, and also to receive the report of the committee appointed to confer with steam-boat captains and owners in regard to protecting cotton from the weather while awaiting shipment at the river landings, and the best means of so improving said landings, and the best means of so improving said landings, as to enable boats to receive cotton on board without injury from mud and wet.

President Fettit took the chair, and, after briefly explaining the object of the meeting. Mr. Napoleon Hill offered the following resolutions on the subject of mall routes, and the same were unanimously adopted.

It having come to the knowledge of this exchange that a report has been made to the postmaster-general by Mr. Reeside, a special agent of the postoffice department, recommending the discontinuance of several routes, now in existence, leading from this city, and in which the business men here are vitally interested in having continued as at present, especially the route from Memphis to Osceola, and those on the St. Francis, White and arkansas ilvers, which are the only means of communication between this city and the towns and large plantations of those sections, having the most important commercial relations with Memphis; therefore.

Resolved, By the Memphis collon exchange, That the changes proposed by said report would be hurtful and pernicious in its effects, a great wrong to the people of those sections and to the business interests of this city, and we carnestly protest against the same.

Resolved, That a copy of this protest be furnished by the secretary of the exchange to Hon. D. M. Key, postmaster-general, and to Hon. Casey Young, repre-while in their possession, protected from the weather. Surely an article costing so much time, labor and money to produce is worth faking care of. The annual lors to the crop of this district, as well as of the United States, amounts to an enormous sam, which can readily be saved if the crop be accorded the same protection that is given to every other products of our soil.
